

In history class, 5 students were given extra credit assignments. Each had to pick a past President of the United States and give a short speech about him. Each student picked a different president. Each presentation was a different length, and no two students received the same grade. From the following clues, determine which student spoke about which President, how long each spoke, and the grade they received.

- Eric did not give a presentation on President Carter.
- The student whose presentation lasted 15 minutes received a C.
- Of the student whose presentation lasted 15 minutes, and the student who received a C-, one was Josh, and the other gave a presentation on President Hoover.
- Eric's presentation lasted 11 minutes.
- The student who spoke about President Johnson spoke 4 minutes less than the student who received a B.
- Of the student who spoke for 7 minutes, and the student who got an A on their assignment, one spoke about President Reagan and the other was Eric
- Of the five students, there was Paul, the student whose presentation lasted 7 minutes, the student who received an A, the student who received a C- and the student who spoke the longest.
- The student whose presentation was on President Johnson spoke 2 minutes longer than Jack
