

Every 4 years, filmmakers from around the globe compete at the Sugartown Film Festival. In preparation for this years festival, Ann was tasked with picking out some of the best films from the first five festivals. Help Ann by figuring out which year the film debuted, the name of the director, the award the film won in and what country the director was from.

1. The director whose film won the prize in Best Sound is either Jessica Tandem or Liza Nemellie.

2. The director whose film won a prize in 1978 isn't from Germany.

3. The Director from The United States won the prize for Best Actor.

4. Of the film that won the prize in Best Short and the director from Mexico, one is Sally Felds and the other won in 1982.
5. Elizabeth Short won her prize 4 years after the director from Finland.

6. Liza Nemellie is either the winner from Austria or the director who won the award for the Best Documentary.

7. The director whose award was for Best Actor won 12 years before the winner in the Best Documentary category.

8. The film that took the award in the Best Short category won the award after the director from Finland.

9. Jessica Tandem won in 1982.
