

Music? No, Thanks - Logic Puzzle

Ludwig, Johann and Wolfgang, three aspiring young boys, had an interest in music and didn't play with toys. They practiced and they practiced but it became a chore. Ludwig, Johann and Wolfgang declared "Enough. No more." Now the fathers of Ludwig, Johann and Wolfgang too didn't like it much at all, but what else could they do, since they had gone before them and relished in success. The boys they had expected to do the same, no less. But each pursued a new field, 'way from the music scene, and never gave a thought to whatever might have been. From this information and the following clues, for each boy, can you determine the field he pursued, his pass rate in exams and his length of time spent in the field?

1. Ludwig chose a field with a 99% exam pass, but it wasn't forensics.
2. Wolfgang spent the longest time in his field.
3. Johann had a 98% exam pass in Science.
4. Ludwig's time in his field was between 40 and 44 years.
